1. During a January meeting, the Partido Socialista Popular. (PSP-Cuban Communist Party) decided to renew its struggle to gain a greater following among Cuban workers by taking advantage of the present CON-COMI (CON-Comision Obrera Nacional; COMI-Comite Obrero Nacional Independiente) labor squabble to win back lost PSP labor syndicates.
2. The PSP further decided to convene as soon as possible the Consejo Directivo of the Communist Confederacion de Trabajadores de Cuba (CTC), a conference of the Communist CTC of Habana Province led by Segundo Quincosa, a conference of the Communist tobacco workers to be presided over by Lazaro Pena, Secretary-General of the CTC, and a national congress of sugar workers directed by Ursinio Rojas. These meetings, as well as those of other PSP-controlled units, will be held prior to the Communist CTC Sixth Congress scheduled for April 1949.
